A thing nobody has mentioned is that some infantry can actually fire out of the APC. At least, the Soldier can....I am not sure if the bullets are visible, but i started shooting(as a passenger in an APC) at an enemy harvester on the way to a rush. To my surprise the Harvy started taking damage (minuscule amounts, but still) and my points started going up.Gunners do not get this benefit, nor engis.Thats all i know.....But this opens up possiblities.....Imagine a Med tank seeing an APC, charging at it. Laughing silently when the APC charges back at how n00bish this stupid APC driver is, before the hidden Mendozas unleash their deadly firepower on this clueless tank(invisible remember)We may be on the era where a couple of APC may turn the tide of a rush completely. I am not sure whether this applies to any other infantry than soldier, but still.....
