

---

Subject: Stealth tank vs. Mammy

Posted by Anonymous on Wed, 16 Oct 2002 14:46:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Mammoths have their uses. They can put up a constant barrage of fire, for a start, and their missiles have nice splash damage. They can also be fire magnets, attracting attention while infantry and smaller vehicles get thier jobs done. The problem is, people buy them because they look big and mean and forget to actually drive them. If you use cover, check for stealths, have an engy around to repair etc, then they can smash anything in their way. But yes, mammoth vs stealth does come down to the skill of the driver.

---