Another tactic...keep an artillery tank behind the barricade and keep aiming for the front of the base. The barricade will absorb most of the damage from the tank fire. When you are low, retreat, refill (assuming you are tech) and re-engage. You can pick off any snipers in the tower on the hill, and any trouble makers in the tunnel near the air strip. GDI at this point will likely try an APC rush. They will either go for the HON or oblesik. Make sure these are mined and or have another tank out front to block the APC. SuperTech
