Is there any possibility u can "hear" the f3 posts that the opposite team states? or was it just coincidence that his f2 - posts always "seemed" to be the answer to mine?i.e. i said: "plz 2 foot soldiers protect me im going to nuke the pp". He said: "plz send me an e-mail about this tactic" i said: "noone wants to come with me?" he wrote. "i will - haha". i said: "hello, <name> can u read my posts? this would be cheating!" he said: "sorry for my experience..." and so on.plz tell me that it was just coincidence! It would be horrible if it is possible to spy out the opposing f3-messages. Well - he could of been playing with others on the same server - and saw your messages....never heard of this though...are you sure you were not using f2?
