Subject: 180 rotate
Posted by Anonymous on Fri, 06 Sep 2002 15:18:00 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I find it useful when i'm headin out of base in a tank, along with a few other tanks as support... i always check that they're close and following me. It's better just to quickly hit X twice to check that your mates are behind you rather than allowing your whole turret to turn round so you can see them - this is purely so that you can keep your turret facing forwards to counter any threat that may attack you.Edit: I never use this as infantry. [September 06, 2002, 15:20: Message edited by: npsmith82]