I dont know whether its a glitch or a secret spot..I suspect glitch however.This is kinda hard to explain so Ill get us there 1st.On CNC CANYON as either team approach the nod base entrance where the bit goes down into the underground area in the base,veer to your right and take the little path that snakes around to the hand of nod.stop be4 you take any turns and jump to the little ledge on the left and then onto the big grey flat shaft that overlooks the nod airstrip... note its just too high to reach jumping so you have to get there like that... then follow the wall on the right side and at the edge theres a sloped bit of ground which u can jump up to get higher,..then u appear in an odd place hgi above everything... you can see under the ground bit.. and above and fire on things but not be able to take fire.anAnyone been there...Btw its not the cnc heaven glitch that you sometimes get.
