Shawzi:I concur.I choose to play on large public servers, where there is an increase level of "every-man- for-himself" syndrome.If you steal an enemy vehicle and bring it back to base, it will most likely be destroyed or used by friendly forces.Keep in mind two things:1) I think a lot of folks go through the game without so much as looking at the dialogue box, so your instructions about the stolen vehicle might not even be 'heard' by some players.2) You have to understand many players (newbs and n00bs alike) don;t understand how the vehicle limit works.Keep playing, and don't get too discouraged. You obviously have got skilz.
