Well, sometime you have to do it by yourself when your team isn't quite "up to task". Few days ago I was playing as Nod in Under and tried to get people to rush. "Who wants to join a flametankrush?" -Dead silence-Then I made it my self, almost killing AGT. Actually, I did it 4 times in a row and everytime AGT had less than 25\% of its health left. Then, suddenly, someone in my team says: "Hey, lets rush them!"Daa!, what have I been doing for past 15 minutes! I decided to buy APC&techie and rush with others. And ofcourse I tried to get other techies to get in my apc but no-one was interested. Well, it ended up being a solorush, others stayed at tiberiumfield shooting some puny GDI regular soldiers. This time I tried to get PP because enemy was mining AGT heavily -> no mines in PP, hopefully. And there wasnt. We won and this was my second mvp in a row. But they didnt start listening to me next round either.
