

---

Subject: A tactic or a N00bish act?

Posted by Anonymous on Thu, 15 Aug 2002 11:05:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

That's no tactic. That's cheating, and a kickable offense in my opinion, sabotaging your own team like that. Now, if you're really playing, and you decide to give them false information, then that's another story. A friend of mine likes to plant a nuke or ion, then yell in the all-chat about some location where it isn't. Some of the time, it works since some players either aren't thinking to look at the chat, or haven't hit "tab" to see the full list of players in the upper right. They rush the building it supposedly is and then find it is really somewhere else. Being a blatant "spy" is one thing, playing mind games is entirely another.

---