When planting a beacon in an enemy base, park a mined vehicle with a few remote C4s over the beacon so the opposing team will have a lot to deal with before they can disarm the beacon. I'm sure some smart a$$es here would make a big deal about the borrowed mines but it will be available for use as soon as somebody tries to get in the vehicle to move it out of the way - for their second attempt, detonate the C4s. I thought this tactic is best if you want to destroy the enemy building single-handedly.
