Blazer, sorry, nobody is owning me, least of all you. Camping, as a negative term, is more or less a non-existent issue in Renegade. Keep jumping to conclusions arrived at through assumptions and your conclusions, as those you have reached here, will be prevalently false. NHJ BV, sorry I couldn't avoid making light of your poorly made sentence since it was (unintentionally) funny in the same way Blazers was. Of course, you just had poor sentence structure, which I certainly am guilty of often myself. On the other hand, Blazer still doesn't get the cheating reference and that is just plain hilarious. I do agree though, camping a mob art there is a fine strategy, if you are losing, have given up on the team, and have no intention of trying to win. [July 27, 2002, 17:25: Message edited by: Jeg]
