shrug Sounds like you are the one whose nerve I hit Its not your topic but you are the one saying you know how to do it and asking if Im jealous I really doubt the story of "all vehicles have a weak spot, the exact size of a bullet that will destroy them with one shot".If it WERE true...its totally useleass...1. You wouldn't be able to hit this spot while the target is moving.2. The odds are slim to none that even if the vehicle was stationary and you were scoping the base, that this spot would be facing you.So basically it's useless info, that is probably not true, and people who post "I know this and you don't and please beg me to show you" are lame, I don't care who they are
