This is what I like to call the: "first you had a make sense story line with RA1, TD, and TS (since their timelines are consecutive, and the change of Hitler had caused a dramatic change where all advanced tech. appeared much earlier than they are suspose to. But then for commerical purposes you want to make a sequel for the great selling RA1, there by messing up the storyline since it stuck RA2 to the time period where TD almost happened." The only possible explanation is that RA1, TD, TS, and in the future TT will be in one universe, while RA2 and YR stands by themselves.
