

---

Subject: Renegade vs. Real World

Posted by Anonymous on Mon, 24 Jun 2002 10:00:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

As far as i know that quote came from the very old spider man comics, its what his uncle told him. If i'm wrong feel free to tell me where the quote came from. America gets involved with other countrys becuae they see its a mistake not too, remember WW2? we sat back and watched germany attack europe thiking "this doesnt concern us, just another european war" that is until germany got much more powerful and japan attack pearl harbor, then after america cooled down about pearl harbor they realized that they better do something or germany will come after them next, and i must admit without america germany would have rolled over europe in no time.{kudos to the russians for helping us win, stupid hitler fighting on to many fronts.}

---