The purpose of my post was to illustrate how selfish some people become to get high scores. I thought it was obvious enough. Yes, repairing gives points as well, but its much less than damaging a building. On every map you see them, doing the same thing just to climb wol ranking. quote:Originally posted by Dooh: quote:Originally posted by jinroh: Don't stay and repair other tanks. If your a hot wire, you should always repair... You earn credits and points, it's usually a long walk back and your team might have an advantage if you work together.. When you die or commit suicide you end up at a PT, which is useually quicker and helpful towards the overall goal "TO WIN". If you don't repair- don't look for any sympathy--> U could end up like C4kitty.
