my hollywood moment was.... some guy was planting a beacon on the pedestal and right then i was fixing my apache on the ground right behind the hand, so i see him and just pump the lead into him, it reminds me of one of those movies when some guys in a bulding and some heli just comes right from the bottom of the window and stars at u for a couple seconds and then blows the crap out of ya, lol oh the fun.and just for your information the beacon was disarmed and all was saved
