This defensive tactic (for the n00bs) can be used by either side and is very effective if used correctly. Here's the scenario: Only your Refinery or Powerplant still exists. . . You must defend your building until the time runs out. . . Grab an Engy and go into the last building, throw down your two remote C4 packs, find a PT and get two more, throw those down too. Do this until the entire floor is covered with remote C4 packs positioned about 1 C4-pack's distance from each other, creating a deadly grid of C4.... then wait for the rush of enemy engineers or whatever they may be and BOOM! Repeat until mixture is no-longer lumpy.
