They really should make Harv driveable. I remember back in original C&C that a Harv could plow through a bunch of maurading troops. With a good driver, the harv could serve as an emergency protector. Get this, true story-One time I was being attacked by an APC, I managed to blow it up but a bunch of Black Hands (or some other attack units) fell out and began to ran towards me, I was in BAD shape. Then, the harv suddenly showed up from behind them and ran them down! [June 12, 2002, 00:34: Message edited by: DFalcon999]
