As to your first strat in this post, do you really think you can run down the mountain, run into the obby, wait the 30 seconds for your c4 to blow without getting noticed by someone on any half competent server? you may be noticed...but if you do it right, the obelisk won't shoot. maybe it could work if your team is diverting the enemies attention (ie, Mrls over hill, offense attack mrls, defense repairs the refinery). as long as the enemy is busy, they shouldn't notice. you could also put remote c4 in the entrance for extra security.
