Also you can rush from the road turning left before getting to the main entrance.I get stuck some times as well, maybe it is lag....Wouldn't you say, though, that the route from the gap is better (assuming you don't get stuck). I mean you are less likely to get noticed early and you have more cover from the war fac and the tall building to lose less armor to the AGT.But yes, you are right. That is a good alternative for getting stuck. I will do so from now on. However on City_Flying the bridge is the place where you will most likely to Orcaed to death, wouldn't you say?
