The thing I hate about n00bs most is when you are placing prox mines...The map was the one from mp and noone bothered to place mines so I started I told EVERYONE on my team that I was placing them so I did..... (a few min later) I was standing in the tunnel after dropping my last mine, I then told everyone that I had dropped 23 mines and then I went back to base and went in the barracks as I came out I look at the AGT to discover a Hot wire dropping mines inside so being very after saying that I was dropping mines I went to see how many they had dropped...

1...2...3.....8...9.....15.....20...21 they had dropped 21 mines at the AGT and I was very angry and I started shouting at the other player (calling him a n00b etc)5 min later someone got in our base with a becon and the n00b tryed to ORDER me to disarm it (so I thought I would teach him a leason) I sent back a message saying "I would but if you didnt throw all them mines on the floor they would have never got in the base" and they said NOW so i said "disarm you own *ing becon"-----In the next level I started by saying that I and only I will lay mines because the rest of you dont have a *ing clue what you are doing.... sure enough the I cought the SAME N00B putting mines in our air strip what that I said to him "either learn how to play or dont play" with that I quit the game and joined another one and had a few good games I just wish n00bs would learn to play of GIVE UP and get rid of the game
