
Subject: Medium Tank or Mammoth Tank: Whats Your Choice?

Posted by Anonymous on Thu, 02 May 2002 11:22:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

quote:Originally posted by Every Silent Victim:"Stealths are better in open ground warfare than Light tanks anyday"Absolutely wrong, light tanks are cheaper yet have more lasting strength and not much less firepower, where as stealth would die, and even if you didn't and ran, would be no use because its easy enough to shoot where the stealth is going even when its cloaked and hit it in the current levels, now imagine in a big open feild.You may have had bad experiences driving STs in open fields, but I have not. The fact that they have 100/100 less hp is more than made up for by the ability to disappear if the going gets tough. Trying to find a ST that just disappeared with the explosions of your rounds in a open field is difficult if the ST knows anything about evasive maneuvers Light tanks can be shot at from farther away and cannot take a Medium head on without a deathwish, but a ST could work its way behind a Med Tank, open up, turn and cloak, wait till you see thier backside again, open up... I love Stealth Tanks.[May 02, 2002: Message edited by: ZTankMuncha]
