If you are playing hourglass and your base is under siege and your buddies can hold the base this is a good tactic for stealing a tank. If tanks are to the sides and your teammates are pummeling them they will pull back a bit and self repair. Go into the tunnels and go to the left or the right so you come out by the tunnel to the right and left sides of the map. Usually people pull back to right next to the opening of the cave and get out to repair... run and jump into the vehicle and then you have cut off the vehicles in the front... i did this last night when i was on Nod (i know, i know... Nod is supposed to kick the crap out of GDI on this map.... but i had a ton of noobs on my team) when i did this i wasn't even a stealth trooper... i was Radeshaw and they still didn't see it coming...
