Even better when that hotwire jumps out of their only tank after the war factory gets destroyed and you run around their base hitting buildings for 5 minutes until u get bored and get out to destroy it, then come back again in an ft and sit on other peoples beacons while you attack the power plant and barracks. Man that was a fun game