

---

Subject: Sorry, clicked the "Add New Topic" Button too much

Posted by Anonymous on Wed, 22 May 2002 00:58:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Just remember when you're ignoring the 8 tanks slashing through your base, "There is no I in TEAM"...Any decent player would give up pounding on a building supported by 6 engies just for points, and go help out in such a situation, but some people seem too concerned with a few numbers on a computer screen to do that...See, the way I interpret it, this C4Kitty is a person who has latched on to something they can do(park and sleep on the fire button), and gets a sense of superiority from it...and as a result, anyone who doesn't go along with their wishes gets called a n00b because, who should give a **** about anyone else? I mean, there's only one person that deserves to have some fun in this game, isn't there? See, OTHER PEOPLE play this game too, and OTHER PEOPLE payed just as much as you to play it, and OTHER PEOPLE deserve to have fun just as much as you...just because you have the game doesn't give you a license to wreck it for everyone else. So if you get a kick out of doing something that ruins everyone else's day, there is this little saying: "The needs of the many outweigh the needs of the one". In other words, if you are doing something that ruins the game for everyone else, everyone else has the right to get p!ssed at you. IF you want to do things that p!ss off the majority(And I DON'T just mean beating a bunch of idiots who think they're hot sh!t), then go to a place where the majority doesn't have to deal with you. Start a server for like-minded people, and stop bothering everyone else.If you wanna play rambo in a way that helps the team(I.E. commando rushing the enemy base-and blowing something important up), then fine. But if you just want to sit there and pound at things just for the points, when you aren't helping in the slightest, you become no more than a DISTRACTION and a DEADWEIGHT, regardless of your score. Those numbers mean NOTHING if people don't respect you. If you sacrifice your MVP to repair allies in need, or disarm that beacon about to kill the PP, or switch to the losing side when the game's unbalanced, THAT is the kind of stuff that wins you respect and gets people to like you, NOT just hanging '#1' on your name. And if you think people should submit to your interpretation of things just because you have a better score, then I suggest you seek immediate psychiatric help, because the only place you'll end up that way is dead.You know what I find amusing? I find it very funny that C4Kitty hates n00bs, because those are the only people who would actually side with her... [ May 21, 2002: Message edited by: Nukelt15 ]

---