

---

Subject: Sorry, clicked the "Add New Topic" Button too much

Posted by Anonymous on Thu, 02 May 2002 07:18:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Awwwwwwww did I strike a nerve ack??? hmmm I think I hurt your feelings.....however I'm inclined to tell you I really don't give a rats azz how you feel. So pfft shove it little boy . Oh and the topic was about to die? Well it really wasn't its morons like azwhooping who keep coming in here and bragging about how they "Shut me down, and how they've made me shut up" if you morons don't want me to say anything then don't put anymore responses up, simple as that. And to the moron who thinks that my tips are obvious and simple why is it I see people constantly shooting at the harv. rather than a tank that is shooting up their teammates?? Why is it I see people constantly getting their tanks stolen?? If my tips are so obvious then why do I more often then not lose 0 points when I'm on the losing team?? Or more often then not get in the top 3 ranks on the team?? If its so obvious why are there not more scores closer to mine in the game?? Is it because not everyone is in a tank, well that might be it but at least then we should see a higher percentage of the team 40-50%, lets say, with score more comperable to mine. And most of all, guess I'll make a separate paragraph just for you Azwhooping, yes you did get higher point totals than me in two games not 3. But lets see why hmmm volcano..... you were off 'shooting' the enemy base while I was in a med. chasing 4 flamers around in our own killing them off. Seems to me like that was team play, if I didn't do this we would have lost our base for sure, not only that but I lost 4 min of 'shooting at a building time' and in the end I was only 101pts. behind you. And why you may ask? well its mainly because I was taking care of my tank ever so often I would see your point total go up then stop, were you dying??? did you waste you tanks??? I'll never really know since this is mainly about getting off on putting me down rather than telling facts. And in the second game you did nothing but shoot at the buildings it was canyon we lost our war fac and all you did was become a 'point who**', all you did was put down my strat about how to end the game quickly and easily when infact it was the easiest way to approach the problem. But these are not the most interesting things I've seen in the games.....Let me take you back to Hourglass, you remember that don't you Azwhoophin it was when you were on gdi with me, as you recall nod didn't let us get anywhere near their buildings so I couldn't just sit there and shoot at buildings. I also arrived late bye 3 min and I also had my game crash yet.....hmmmm I was the pts. leader on our team, wasn't I..... yes I was and you were what?? something like 5th..... 6th on our team?? I can really see that you have nothing to offer unless you have a nice big building in front of you to park your lazy azz in front of and shoot at

---