Is that so Dooh well look at my stats.... if it were up to your grading system I would be the best in the world.....and oh yeah i do play for points and don't play by repairing..... I want points plain and simple.....and if it need be where my tank is taken out and i'm a hotwire and there are other tanks that need help....I say screw them let them help themselves.....I plant c4 on my self and I'm back at my base ready to get into another tank... My main point is that if people would treat their tanks better and get better tank skills they wouldn't need engis,techs, or hotwires to follow them....and if you have read my posts on how to get good tank skills then maybe you wouldn't be sounding so dumb right now
