When saying that certain units suck, think for a moment... If the mammoths were upgraded, then GDI would have more power/player ratio than they do at the moment. If all of GDI had 8 mammies, Nod could not stop the rush. This brings me to my real point... Mammoth tanks are there only for people who have too much money and want that little upgrade from a medium tank for a lot more than a straight price increase. If you have lots of $ stick with the mammy, but if you are low then get mediums... It is that simple.
