nerb: it only works if there's a hyperlink to direct it to. You can't post a picture off your hard drive - you need to get a webserver and an FTP client - probably your ISP gives you at LEAST 5MB of storage space. Then and only then will you be able to post picture links.Word of advice, don't get a Geocities - as linking something on here and then having 500 people going to look at it will use up your bandwidth and they'll lock access to it down.
