i know about the max limit for prox. mines.Is this limit the same for c4,including remote mines?On one game our team was laying fields of remote mines and when a flame tank or two showed up,we all detonated them as they crossed them. It was effective at keeping them at bay while we kept racking in points. If You were in that game, You'd know (nod was using general chat and showed us every ft rush they planned)We had like two large fields we kept replanting and one that was smaller just to get them into the larger two
