right, the flame tank is well balanced for the price. if the enemy comes in with 8 flamers, that just means they had the team work to organize such a raid. you were defeated by superior teamwork, not a superior weapon. while the nod was busy saving for their flamers, the gdi could've done the same with mediums and stopped it cold. the problem is that all too often, the gdi side will save for mammies and then be screaming bloody murder when the flame tanks come rollin' in. lol...
