well, as far as going through mines i like to go the farthest fromt the mines like alway to the left, this way you avoid most of them and manage to slip through the mine defense. As far as tank dodging gos, i really only get squishied when i try to run up and c4 a tank. I find that if you fake a little to either direction the go the other it makes the tank driver swerv that direction and you get away. I cant help you as far as squishing people go's, i'm terrible at it!
