Aircraft will make a huge advantage for whoever is in them even if everyone can fire at you. I'd rather the game be as realistic as possible, and it's possible for a rifleman to shoot down a helicopter if he's in range. Plus, with all this aircraft rush, when the aircraft are released all bases will probably be equipped with at least one sam site, with targeted missiles. Yes, the ones that follow the aircraft around. So that would be more difficult to pull off. I also hope that the mammoths and mrls would be able to target the aircraft with their missiles.
