In conclusion, don't discard strategies because they may seem to be illogical. It may just be the opposite. One minor flaw in your statement that actually works to support your strategy is that vehicles cannot see stealth blackhand's. I wish i still had the screen shot but, On islands a friend actually has a screenshot of me standing amidst 3 medium tanks moving to attack our base. the two of us managed to nuke the weapons factory and the and tiberium refinery and we just ran right past all the vehicles. It's the infantry on foot that you have to avoid.
