please guys, this is the tacs and strats section. i've enjoyed the fact that there are fewer flammers here and most that post here either want to learn or want to share their strategies. yes, i know there are far fewer posters than in the general section, but even still, the flames are few and far between in this forum. please keep it that way. if a particular player thinks that the apc is a good multipurpose vehicle for racking up some big kills and bucks, then so be it. it's his choice and he chose to share his "secret" with the rest of us. if you haven't gone out in an apc and done what he's done, then you don't know. so try it and share your experience with the group. and please, keep it positive and constructive!...
