quote:the betas dont even have it yet... this whole "when's the aircraft coming out" question(are they g@y or what?..lol. j/k) makes me wonder how game development actually works. we know there WILL be aircraft, and i assume that ww has the basic stats for them. my question is, if they haven't released them, where are they? is there an in-house team testing them for gameplay/balance/bug issues first? then when they're satisfied and all known issues have been dealt with, ww turns them over to the betas for more testing?i'm just curious. if anyone has knowledge of how it works before release, please enlighten me.. thanks..
