I am not a newbie rank 300 just now.. not that the rankings really mean you are good/bad.. just how much time you have to play. The game is quite new. give it some time or, if you want a good game play on servers with NO Noobies plz or something like that. I played on one of these servers and loved every second of it. everyone on both sides worked as teams. and we were both pretty much evenly matched. I lost some, won others (although i was mvp*3, whooo) hehe. my point is that the retail game is quite new, give it some time. either that or when air units are released sit up above and shoot all the newbies that is what i plan to do
