Devon is pretty much right. I love going back and playing Max Payne(I know its not FPS, shut up) with 'coder' on. It makes me seem like the **** terminator and its STILL a ton of fun. Some games(like the aforementioned Max Payne) have impossible areas to beat. Whether it be bugs or just the **** fact that it takes super-human skill. As long as the cheats don't trickle into Multiplayer, I don't see a problem. What people do on their own computers without involving others is their own business.
