But it's like the older mines disappear and the newly laid mines stay, but time will tell, in many games it's like I'm the only person laying mines and I keep good track of them. But I'll triple check that out and if others on my team is placing 10 or 20 mines outside of the base which I find quite unlikely and all of the base defence mines are dying, then our team must work on that. Just go into a 4 or 6 player game and see?
