One time, I was on Nod and I was an engy. So I get into one of those box things with a friendly sniper in it. I must have been blocking his view cause he started shouting Get out of my way! and all. And I did. Or so he thought. I continuously got in front of him and he moved around. When I got bored of that, I flashed my repair gun in his face. He then backed up for no reason and suddenly, a GDI sniper gets me right in the back! At least I had fun whilst it lasted. Also one time I went into the GDI Barracks as Raveshaw and planted my timed C4 on the MCT and patiently waited for it to go off. It went off, and then I started blasting away with my rail gun at the inside of the Barracks. Then a bunch of GDI start spawning inside or run inside to use the PT and while they sit there, without noticing me, I just pick them off. Of course I waited for them to buy whatever. I'm thrifty that way. I eventually destroyed the building that way. Then I lathered, rinsed, and repeat, always repeat, on the Refinery. The joys of Nod...
