u know you can set the side you want to on the My Information menu . This makes it so you can be the side you want(most of the time). It works when the teams are even (EXAMPLE: 4 vs 4) you go to that side you chose. But if you are one team is down a player you will join there team regardless(unless someone else joins before you). It is not completely random. There is a whole logic applied to which team you join.
