They need to make it so that the only way to be dropped from the game is by vote, the host should have no control. I was in a game and the host would wait for someone to buy a tank, wait for them to get in it, then he would get in too, and drop the other player, theyrebye giving him a free tank.I saw another game where the host dropped all of the opposing team except one player so he could kill them easier. People like that should be killed.
