Is there any way at all to control the characters that you rescue so they will either stay out of the way or remain behind you. I am on that level that you break out of the prison and save Dr. Morbius, but every time I get him out, he gets in the way or goes way ahead of me and winds up getting killed. Can you run in this game, if so what key is it? Also, It would have been a little better if Westwood actually put a better operating manual in this game like they have with the other C&C games.
