Actually, an in-game MP3 player would be really awesome. There's a game that might be coming out soon called "Project Nine Zero" (<http://www.whatsthehoopla.com/project90/index.php>) that includes an in-game MP3 player and it provides a really cool effect. Then again, those of us with XP (and whatever other OS's/drivers actually allow it) get to play multiple channels of sound simultaneously, which rocks.
