patch isnt so hot against tanks, but against infantry i find him to be great. He has lots of ammo and it does awesome damage, also since its tiberium it poisons your target so when you duck for a reload your enemy is still taking damage. I love it when I almost kill a person and they start running away only to die from the poison. The laserchaingun black hand is great against tanks but not so great against foot soldiers when compared to patch and patch is terrible against tanks, so its a tradeoff.
