i got a question..... if theres a mami... or humve... barreling at you... are you gonna star at the licence plate?? if you put it on there, ppl would probably notice it for the first couple min, then they figure out there last place because there staring at the rear end of a frickin tank all game... you know your name is above the tank/humvee right?? with most ppl having there graphics on low, u wont even see what the plate says, nother less read it,
