When I was given the maps, I was instructed that I would have all the models and such given only to me, because they said I was the most dedicated to this game.So stop whining about it and stop trying to justify thievery. I reiterate: Because you want something doesn't mean it was meant to be shared. Blah blah blah more babbling from a childish mind.Guess I shouldnt expect more from a child though.You honestly have no room to talk. He has made other maps besides the ones he has finished from his friends at WS. Some of them I still play when I see them on WOL.As for sharing models, I really don't want anyone taking my work, and manipulating it in any way unless I have given permission to the said person.
