I know this may be an awful pain having loads of versions of this map out there but there are some disadvantages in the map. Over the last day we have been testing this map on our private servers to see if it is suitable for use on our main servers. It is an excellent map and we all liked it, there was just one thing that wrecked the gameplay. The team who destroys the light tanks gain hundreds of points making the gameplay a bit biased. We never really used the tanks because they are not that good to kill infantry, infantry only is better. I'm not saying you should update it now, but in a future release I think you should give the tanks a miss. Great Job on the map Overall. [January 25, 2003, 07:08: Message edited by: General Havoc]
