My brother would use them properly, your problem is you dont give people a chance.....People would think you were a much nicer guy if you just didnt ripp people constantly and look down on them. You say that you dont care if people dont like the way you act, if so then just carry on and act how you have been acting but in the end it will be your downfall. The only people who will look up to u are the n00bs right at the bottom of the community.
