ok.....so you're saying i have to wait till the next patch (1.036 or 1.040).....right?I've been around long enough to know that the CTD bug isnt an easy bug to find.....hopefully it can be solved quicker than it was for RA2 (ask YSLMuffins she knows all about that can of worms).You're right,i am upset.....i didnt see anything about this in the readme that came with the new patch.....i had no idea that they did this till i was told by another gamer.The reason i am upset is because i have worked hard to get what i have published out to everybody and i seem to find myself out of the loop.....not worthy of this pertinent information that directly affects my work with the community here.Where or when did they post about this happening?guess i'll go look and see.Eric.
